

What would you place in a time capsule for future students to discover?

In a time capsule for future students to discover I would put in some newspapers, magazines, video games, pictures, and a child's toy. A newspaper when you pull it out of the time capsule will tell you what was going on at that time. Magazines will tell you what was popular at the time. Video games could be made differently in the future so putting a video game in the time capsule would show how video games have changed. I would take a picture of the school and myself to show how the school and I have changed. A child's toy would be great to put in because in the future 30-40 years down the road they may have robotic toys. In my opinion, I would love to open a time capsule from the past.

Brycen Coomer, 5th, Jonesville Middle, Mrs. Austin

I would write a letter to tell others that they may hate school, but they should love going. I left for 2 months to go to another school, and it was horrible. I cried so much because I missed my friends and teachers. When I left, I felt that I was unpopular, but when I came back, everyone yelled my name, and it made me feel special. I would put a letter meant for all students to see that school is awesome and you may not like it, but secretly we can't live without it.

Garrett Cradic, 8th, Surgoinsville Middle, Mrs. Hensley

In a time capsule for future students, I would include coins. They might have new coins. I would put a half dollar. Coins might be gone, and they might only use dollars. All in all, I think it would be cool to put coins in a time capsule.

What would you put in a time capsule that's really cool and unique to you? I would put a hover board in it because who knows what they will do to it in the future. Another thing that I would put is a phone because they are really helpful these days, like in case of an emergency. I also would put clothes in it also because people come up with really unique designs these days. Those are the things I would put in a time capsule for future students to discover.

Avie McDavid, 2nd, Nickelsville Elementary, Mrs. Gilmer

I would put a few things in a time capsule for future students to discover. First, I would put a note that talked about 2018 and 2019. Next, I will put a picture of my whole class in there. Then I'll put my pencil in it. As you can clearly see, I'd put these things in a time capsule for future students to learn about 2019.

Jackson Carter, 3rd, Duffield Primary, Ms. Hurd

If I put something in a time capsule it would be a video tape of the government situation. The reason I would put this is so someone could see what became of our world. How things reflect off of one act. I would hope that it could make a difference!

Kylah Parsons, 5th, Jonesville Middle, Mrs. Austin

If I were making a time capsule, I would put stickers because I like to put them on myself. I would put a balloon because I like to see them floating. I would put a toy that I like to play with. I would put money because I like to spend it. I would put a video game because I like to play them. That's what I would put in my time capsule.

Elijah Berry, 2nd, Rock Springs Elementary, Mrs. Charlton

If I can place something in a time capsule it would be gold because I want somebody to get gold. Gold can make you rich and that's great. Gold is shiny and heavy. Gold is a famous gem in the world! Twenty-six years later we will dig it up.

I would put in a phone filled with personal information. I think 4 years or so from now, there'll be smarter technology. I think looking through an old phone will bring back memories and be a cool experience for kids to see how things were "back then."
